1. Before leaving Rumania Grigore Niculescu-Buzesti was given full power by Iuliu Maniu to act in behalf of the Rumanian National Peasant Party abroad. Consequently, Buzesti has activated the Rumanian Agrarian Organization with himself as head. Other officers include Augustin Popa in Rome and Corneliu Bocu in London. The policy of the organization follows the National Peasant Party political line. Buzesti has chosen to line up his Agrarian organization with the International Peasant Union.
2. The International Peasant Union is composed of five parties with the Central Committee as follows:
 - a. Rumanian Agrarian Organization (Buzesti)
 - b. Hungarian Smallholders (Nagy)
 - c. Bulgarian Agrarian Party (Dimitrov)
 - d. Croatian Peasant Party (Macek)
 - e. Serbian Peasant Party (Gavrilovic)
3. The Central Committee of ^{the} International Peasant Union is planning to submit a petition at the current session of the United Nations requesting an investigation of the conditions and activities in the countries concerned which are contrary to the principles of the United Nations charter. The petition will include five chapters including the Rumanian Agrarian Organization's chapter written by Buzesti. The latter's petition is based on a Government imposed on Rumania, economic exploitation of that country, and occurrences directly contrary to the United Nations charter.
